DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 08/22/2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant states that the prior art of record fails to disclose the claimed structure of the brace member astride, i.e. laying on top with one leg on either side of, the main terminal. Klein et al. [US 3,534,195] discloses a brace member [22] that is astride a load terminal [96] with a leg [110] on either side of the load terminal [figure 5].

In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., the brace provides torque protection for the bimetal) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

Drawings

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the conductive cable must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121 (d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Felden et al. [US 6,556,111] in view of Klein et al. [US 3,534,195].

Regarding claims 1-2, 18-21, Felden et al. discloses a load terminal assembly [figure 4] for use in a circuit breaker comprising a main load terminal [19] connected to a bimetal strip [27] and further connected to a lug assembly for the attachment of a conductive cable.

Felden et al. discloses everything claimed except a load brace located astride the main load terminal having at least one tab fitting into a corresponding pocket of the circuit breaker housing.

Klein et al. discloses a brace member [22, figure 5] connected to a load terminal [96] via a mounting screw [28] having a pair of tabs [110] extending past the load terminal to fit into corresponding pockets [106] of a circuit breaker housing [24]. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the brace member of Klein et al. with the main load terminal of Felden et al. in order to provide additional strength to the load terminal.

Regarding claim 8, Felden et al. discloses an armature pivot of a trip unit [figure 1] pressed against the load brace.

Regarding claims 4-5 and 22, Felden et al. discloses the load terminal having a first arm and a second arm extending among a common line with the second arm generally parallel therewith connected via a curved bend [figure 4].

Regarding claims 9-10, Felden et al. further discloses the armature support including a rib [figure 1]. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to engage the brace with the rib in order to fit both the armature pivot support and brace within the bend.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
